Acknowledgement and Release of Liability

Members and Guests of the LIFE Institute ("LIFE") understand that they may choose to participate in courses and activities some of which may take place on or off the campus of Ryerson University (Ryerson). Should they suffer any injury of any sort during the course of such activities or during activities which take place at the Ryerson campus, they acknowledge that they may not hold LIFE or Ryerson or any persons connected with either LIFE or Ryerson responsible for such injury and agree to release all parties of any liability in connection therewith. If any member or guest of LIFE has any condition which may make an activity (including any meals or food which may be offered or provided) any more hazardous for them than for the average person, they undertake to bring this to the attention of the course or activity leader or moderator and accept his or her judgment as to the advisability of their participation. Anyone who fails to mention such condition or decides to continue with the course or activity, whether or not being advised not to, must understand that he or she does so entirely at her or his own risk, relying on his or her own judgment for this purpose. Members and guests should also note that, if any member or guest, while on an off-campus activity of LIFE, should cause damage to person or property, they are NOT relieved of liability even if the insurance of LIFE, Ryerson, or any other person may also provide coverage.

I have read and accept the terms in the Acknowledgement and Release of Liability
